

Why be an election worker?

Your help makes a difference!

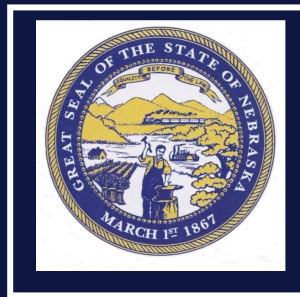

On Election Day, over 9,000 election workers are needed to serve the voters at the polls in Nebraska. This is a great opportunity to serve your community and to be involved in the election process.

You may join the Election Worker Team by completing the response form inside this brochure.

Presented by the Nebraska Secretary of State

The Secretary of State serves as the chief election officer of the state. The Elections Division is responsible for the election process in Nebraska. Duties include accepting filings and tabulating results for statewide, legislative, judicial retention and certain district elections; accepting filings for statewide initiative and referendum petitions; administering election law; and supervising the conduct of elections. The division is responsible for implementing reforms under the federal Help America Vote Act.
